Cooperative strategies are categorized into two main sub-sets: collusive strategies and strategic alliances. Through collusive strategies, several organizations in an industry co-operate to decrease industry output below the competitive level and raise prices above the competitive level. Strategic alliances are formed when several organizations co-operate in order to increase the competitive position of the industry as a whole.

Keywords
Cooperative strategies, strategic alliances, co-opetition.